The Heckscher Museum of Art Presents:
The Heckscher Collects: Recent Acquisitions
Through May 12, 2019

Huntington, NY --- Significant new acquisitions from The Heckscher Museum of Art are on exhibit --most for the first time. These 24 paintings, prints, and photographs demonstrate the continued evolution and growth of The Heckscher Museum's Permanent Collection. All of the works on display were acquired during the last five years. The Heckscher Collects: Recent Acquisitions is on view through May 12, 2019.

The Heckscher Collects: Recent Acquisitions features works of art that add to the substance and breadth of the Permanent Collection. It enhances the Museum holdings from contemporary Long Island artists, and expands holdings of notable female artists.

The exhibition includes works by Red Grooms, Katja Oxman, and Esteban Vicente, as well as noteworthy works by Long Island artists such as Stan Brodsky, Joe Constantino, April Gornik, Paton Miller, Bastienne Schmidt, Ty Stroudsburg, Dan Weldon, Jane Wilson and Louise P. Sloane.

How the Heckscher Museum of Art Acquires New Artworks:

“New acquisitions are considered for many reasons. Do they fulfill the Museum mission? Are they from significant artists – perhaps a Long Islander? Does it represent a unique process or speak to the growth of an artist? Does it close a gap in our collection?” explains Lisa Chalif, Heckscher Museum Curator.

For instance, Stanley William Hayter’s Tropic of Cancer, 1949, is included in the exhibition, and is important for both its scale and use of multiple techniques. (Image: Esteban Vicente, Madrigal, c. 1980, Heckscher Museum of Art)
